

Who I'm

My name is Alice Torelli and since 2004 I've been working as a freelance journalist. Since when I was teen I had the passion for writing, but I started developing it only after the university years. I wrote for the monthly "Master Meeting" regarding different topics: congressional, hotels, marketing, travels and companies.

I also wrote for the section of the weekly "Il Mondo" about the Italian region (obviously described from an economic point of view). Finally I wrote for the monthly "Barbie Magazine" which gives me the opportunity to "come back to my child years". In 2004 I took my University Degree (in IULM University of Milan, 4 years) in Foreign Languages & Literatures (English and Spanish) with a voting of 110/110. I took the specialisation in the artistic-literary field because my second passion is for Art, and everything linked with this field. For this reason my first job after the University was for an Art website ArsLife, where I wrote about events, vernissage and auctions.

I also went to exhibitions, describing the pictures, talking about the artist and giving a description of the event. The first reason why I chose to study Languages (also in the High-School I chose a scientific school but studying two languages: German and English) was to come in touch with different cultures, that's why I travelled a lot around the world. The best travel I did (and it is still alive in my heart) was in Australia, just after my university degree.

I spent there 3 months and I had the opportunity to work and visit this wonderful country. Not only Sydney and Melbourne, but also the wide desert (Ayers Rock and the Wind Canyon are a really unforgettable experience!), Adelaide and the Gold Coast, where I surfed for the first time. Once in Italy I kept on surfing, I tried the wave of Portugal and Canarias. During my travels I also visited New York, Spain (Madrid & Barcelona), England & Ireland, Dubai, France (Provence), Wien and Prague.

Australia remained in my heart strongly, that's the reason why together with my husband Matteo we decided to come back and start a new life here! After waiting two years for the visa, now we live in Adelaide (capital of South Australia). At the moment I'm working as a secretary (but I keep on writing for some local newspaper) whereas my husband teaches Italian at the University. Future plans? Just enjoy our new aussie life, discovering everyday a little bit of this wonderful land!

For looking our blog: e.migr@ti

#